Torque Specs for 03-07 - 800 REVS

IT'S safe to say that the new E-TEC will probably land somewhere between the 500SS and 600 SDI motors as far as horsepower goes. Peak torque numbers on the E-TEC were 76 foot-pounds at 7,900 rpm. Again, this number beats the 500SS on torque, but doesn't quite match the 600 SDI.

Dyno Test: Ski-Doo 600 E-TEC | American Snowmobiler Magazine

We found 119.8hp at 7800 rpm, with the torque peak of 86.6 pounds right on top of it. "This is an impressive engine package," noted Dynoport's Rich Daly. "The 600 HO very makes good power for its size. It does it on a cold pull and then holds it on successive runs." Our contacts at Ski-Doo were quite pleased with the results of our 600 HO test session.
